Protecting Yourself on Social Media

The era of social media has allowed us to keep in touch with loved ones around the world in an instant. Although many of us forget that with the click of a mouse we allow strangers access to where we work, who we hang out with, places we frequent, and even where we live. Extortion, identity theft and even murder have been some of the disturbing results of sharing our lives online for anyone to view so it is now more important than ever to keep ourselves and our loved ones protected.

How to Protect Yourself

Firstly, make sure you read the terms and conditions of your social media platform. This will allow you to understand what the site is doing with your information and content, as there are some sites that will share your data with third parties, such as advertisers. Once you are logged in to your account, check your privacy settings as they will allow you to limit who can see your page, who can share your content, and who can access your list of followers/ friends. Also, many sites will have the ability to access the location of your device. This can be turned off via your profile settings. Lastly, ensure you are updating your password on a regular basis to avoid anyone from hacking into your account and stealing your information. Although most people utilize social media platforms harmlessly, there are still those online with malicious intentions so make sure you are protected.
